Staying Top of Mind Without Being a Nuisance

THE FOLLOW-UP DISCIPLINE

Most hospice reps underinvest in follow-up. They visit an account, have a good conversation, and move on without sending a meaningful follow-up within 24 hours. The accounts that refer most consistently are often not the ones where the best first meeting happened. They are the ones where the rep followed up immediately, delivered on every promise, and stayed visible without being intrusive.

Each template below is designed for a specific scenario. Customize the bracketed fields before every use. Do not send generic messages. Reference something specific from your interaction.

TEMPLATE 1: POST-FIRST-VISIT FOLLOW-UP

Send within 24 hours of your first meeting with a new contact. This is your most important follow-up message.

Subject: Great to Meet You Today, [Name]

Hi [Name],

Thank you for taking time to speak with me today. I genuinely appreciated learning about how your team approaches care transitions for your [residents / patients] — especially the point you made about [specific detail from conversation].

As I mentioned, I am attaching a short resource on hospice eligibility criteria for patients with [primary diagnosis they mentioned]. I think the section on [specific topic] will be particularly relevant given what you shared.

Based on our conversation, I would love to schedule 20 minutes with you and [other staff member if relevant] to walk through how our team supports facilities like yours. I am available [two specific time options]. Which works better for you?

Looking forward to continuing the conversation.

TEMPLATE 2: EDUCATIONAL VALUE EMAIL

Send to contacts you have met at least once. This is a non-sales touchpoint that reinforces your clinical credibility.

Subject: Resource: [Topic Relevant to Their Patient Population]

Hi [Name],

I came across this information and immediately thought of the conversation we had about [specific topic they mentioned]. I wanted to share it with you in case it is helpful for your team.

The key takeaway: [one-sentence clinical insight or data point relevant to their situation].

This comes up fairly often in facilities managing [primary diagnosis] patients, and a lot of teams find it helps them have earlier, more confident conversations with families.

No action required — just wanted to share something useful. If you ever want to talk through any of these situations in more detail, I am always available.

TEMPLATE 3: QUARTERLY TOUCHPOINT

Send to active referral partners every 8 to 12 weeks to maintain the relationship and stay top of mind.

Subject: Checking In — [Season] 2026

Hi [Name],

I hope [season] has been going well for your team. I wanted to check in and let you know that [specific positive outcome or case reference if appropriate and compliant with HIPAA].

I have also been meaning to follow up on something you mentioned last time — [callback to previous conversation]. I would love to hear how that situation has developed.

If you would find it helpful, I have a new resource on [topic relevant to their current needs] that several of your colleagues in similar facilities have found useful. Happy to drop it off or send it over digitally — whatever is easier.

Let me know if there is anything I can help with. I always appreciate the trust you put in our team.

TEMPLATE 4: RE-ENGAGEMENT FOR QUIET ACCOUNTS

Send to accounts that have gone quiet after previous referral activity. Timing: when referrals drop off for 30 or more days with no clear reason.

Subject: Checking In — Has Anything Changed?

Hi [Name],

I noticed I have not heard from you in a few weeks and wanted to reach out. I hope everything is going well with your team.

I want to be direct: if there has been anything about our service or responsiveness that fell short of what you expected, I would genuinely want to hear about it. My commitment to you and your [residents / patients] is too important for me to just let a silence go without checking in.

If everything is fine and it has just been a quiet period, that is great too. I am always here when you need us.

Is there anything I can help with right now?

TEMPLATE 5: REFERRAL THANK-YOU

Send within 24 hours of receiving a referral. This is non-negotiable. Fast, specific acknowledgment builds loyalty.

Subject: Thank You for the Referral

Hi [Name],

I wanted to reach out right away to thank you for referring [patient first name only if HIPAA-compliant, or "your patient"] to our team. I know that trust is earned, and I do not take it lightly that you chose us.

Our clinical team has already [reached out / made contact / begun the evaluation process] and we will keep you updated as appropriate.

If there is anything you need from our end, please do not hesitate to contact me directly. I am always available for you.

TEMPLATE 6: HOLIDAY TOUCHPOINT

Send during major holidays (Thanksgiving, winter holidays, New Year). Keep it brief and personal, not promotional.

Subject: Wishing You a Restful [Holiday]

Hi [Name],

I just wanted to reach out and wish you and your team a wonderful [holiday]. The work you do for families during some of the hardest moments of their lives is something I truly respect.

I am grateful for the partnership we have built and look forward to continuing to support your team in the year ahead.

Take good care, and I hope you get some rest.

FOLLOW-UP SCHEDULING GUIDELINES

- Post-first-visit email: within 24 hours, always
- Post-referral thank-you: same day if possible, 24 hours maximum
- Educational touchpoint: every 4 to 6 weeks for B Tier accounts
- Quarterly check-in: every 10 to 12 weeks for A Tier accounts
- Re-engagement after silence: at 30 days of no contact
- Never send two emails in one week unless there is a specific urgent reason

THE ONE-LINE RULE

Every follow-up email should have at least one sentence that could only have been written after meeting that specific person. If you cannot write that sentence, your follow-up is generic and it will be treated like spam. The line that proves you were listening is the line that gets the reply.
