

Decision Trees & Frameworks

Strategic Decision-Making Tools for Complex Situations

ACCOUNT QUALIFICATION FRAMEWORK

Is This a Qualified Opportunity?

1. BUDGET

Do they have decision-making authority on hospice partnerships?

2. AUTHORITY

Are you speaking with the right person?

3. NEED

Do they have patients who could benefit from hospice services?

4. TIMELINE

Is there a compelling reason to act now?

If YES to all 4: Priority A account. If YES to 3: Priority B. If YES to 2 or fewer: Nurture or deprioritize.

OBJECTION RESPONSE DECISION TREE

When you encounter resistance, follow this framework:

Step 1: ACKNOWLEDGE

"I understand..." or "That makes sense..." Validate their concern without agreeing with the objection itself.

Step 2: CLARIFY

"Help me understand..." or "Can you tell me more about..." Get to the root of the objection.

Step 3: RESPOND

Address the specific concern with relevant evidence, case studies, or reframing. Keep it brief.

Step 4: ADVANCE

Propose a low-commitment next step. "Would it be helpful if I..." or "Could we schedule..."

MEETING OUTCOME DECISION TREE

After Every Meeting, Ask:

- Did I advance the relationship? ! If NO: What value can I add in follow-up?
- Did I learn something new? ! If NO: What questions should I have asked?
- Is there a clear next step? ! If NO: Immediately schedule follow-up action.
- Am I closer to a decision? ! If NO: What's blocking progress?

After every call, meeting, or interaction, spend 2 minutes documenting lessons learned. What worked? What would you do differently? This discipline compounds into expertise.
